MIXING IT UP

This year we took our potting class to Johnson Nursery, and it did not disappoint! We started the event with a lesson on what certain plants need and the three parts of a planter. The centerpiece is known as your thriller. It is big, bold, and the focal point of your container. Then comes the filler, typically brighter in color, which is used to fill in the gaps. This is followed by a spiller to add lushness by trailing over the edges. After the class, each of the 16 ladies in attendance were given the opportunity to pick out their own pieces and create a custom planter while enjoying light hors d'oeuvres and a glass of wine. Thank you Johnson Nursery for hosting this great class!

MAD HATTER

GARDEN PARTY

The Mad Hatter Garden Party was a fantasy of fun for the children! They were greeted at the door and given name tags to wear. River Landing resident Gina Miller taught table etiquette during the tea party as the kids, parents, and grandparents ate snacks. They also played with bubbles and had a ball painting mushroom figurines! The best part of the day was the meet and greet with Alice and the Mad Hatter who stopped by to take pictures with everyone. Thankfully, they were not late for this very important date!

TREE PLANTING

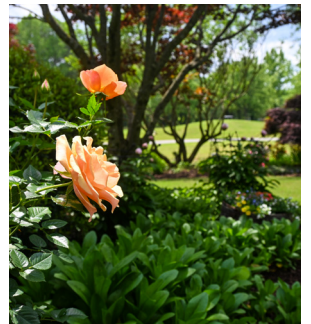

We love watching our community grow and thrive, and one way we do that is by holding an annual Earth Day Tree Planting session. River Landing Landscape Services Manager Chris Randall demonstrated the proper way to plant dwarf crape myrtles and also discussed topics such as: best practices for tree planting, how to select the right location, how to recognize the correct time of year for planting, and how to care for a new tree after it has been planted. He ended the session by providing resources that could be helpful to residents and answered questions. This event is special to us because not only is it a great way to educate, but it also replenishes the environment. That's a win-win!

GARDEN TOUR

The 3rd annual River Landing Garden Tour featured a beautiful weekend of fun, friends, and gorgeous landscapes! There were nine locations on the tour including the River Landing Memory Garden and the Pollinator Garden in The Vineyards. The seven residential participants were: Julie and Michael Couch, Kay & Benny Pulzone, Anita & John Iacovino, Diane & Jim Brostowin, Barbara & Jerry Kukoski, Lauren & Steven Lassman, and Wynelle Weston. Congratulations to the Pulzones who were our 2023 Garden Tour winners! They received a custom planter donated by Johnson Nursery. Special thanks to Johnson Nursery for all of their support during National Garden Month!

Congratulations

We closed out the Garden Tour on Sunday evening with a Beer and Wine Garden on the Terrace at the Clubhouse. The River Landing Quilt Enthusiasts dressed up the Clubhouse foyer with an impressive collection of their handmade quilts providing a stunning entrance. Attendees enjoyed charcuterie, beer, and wine while chatting about all the beautiful gardens on the tour. DJ Jody Patram provided great tunes for the evening and Johnson Nursery had a gorgeous display of flowers and plants. Staff from Johnson Nursery were also there to answer questions about their products and services and to talk about all things gardening. It was a perfect ending to the month-long festivities!

RIVER BANDITS

River Landing's own "River Bandits" treated their neighbors to some good old fashioned Rock-n-Roll on a recent Sunday afternoon. A front porch on Legacy Point was the perfect stage for these resident musicians, who entertained the crowd with tunes dating back to the 1960's. There was lots of laughter and dancing all around. What a fun way to enjoy spending time with friends and family!

DERBY DAY

FESTIVITES

2023
BEST DRESSED

It was a galloping good time at the Derby Day festivities this year because there were so many fun things to do! We enjoyed music, food, cornhole, and dancing. Of course the highlight of the day was the races. We watched the official race and even had a stick race of our own. Members made bets on both, and each of our stick horses was given a fun name and description. Everyone cheered them on from the Golf Balcony, and at the end of the evening the horses weren't the only ones who came out victorious - we had a few winners of our own! Congratulations to Sharon White and Charlie Biernetzky for winning the best dressed contest and Diane Brostowin who was our race winner! Thank you to the Clubhouse dining staff for hosting and to Activities Director Sabrina Lewis for planning the event!

THE HALLS

When Hope and Keith Hall decided they were ready to move from their hometown of Greensboro, NC, they knew they wanted to live close to the coast. That is just one of the many reasons they chose River Landing. "The beach is our happy place and we love having access to so many beaches on the Carolina coast," Hope stated.

The couple said they chose River Landing over other communities not only because of the location but also the beauty of the development. Since moving into their custom home in 2014, Hope and Keith have appreciated the diversity of the community and how much it has grown. They love River Landing for its small-town feel while also having access to multiple cities, low crime, great neighbors, and affordability.

There are many things on the property the Halls enjoy and are involved in. Hope regularly exercises in the pool, and Keith is often seen throughout the community pursuing his passion - fishing. Exploring the 63 catch-and-release ponds in River Landing is one of his favorite things. Both of them enjoy playing pickleball, and they also participate in a lot of the social activities. They're not big golfers, but Keith plans to venture into it some when he retires. Currently Keith works as a supervisor for a commercial plumbing company out of Raleigh that works on new construction sites. Hope retired from a medical manufacturing company after 30 years of sales and contract management. Keith travels a lot for work during the week, but enjoys free time in River Landing on the weekends.

They have 2 adult children and 2 grandchildren, Levi and Cash, who they adore. They also live with their best friends (their pets) Gus, Leo, and Evie the cat.

We are glad to have the Halls as a part of our community. They enjoy getting to know new neighbors and never meet a stranger. The next time you see Hope and Keith make sure you stop to say hello - unless they beat you to it!

River Landing is filled with extraordinary individuals and families. If you have a family that would be great for our next resident feature, email marketing@murfam.com!

LESSONS LEARNED

GEORGE

Director of Golf & Hospitality

(910) 285-6693

lgeorge@riverlanding.com

When I look back at competing in the US Open Qualifier we hosted here at River Landing in April, there are two things which come to the forefront of my thoughts. I can do very little about either of them, but notice I said “very little” and not “nothing.” I bring these two things up because I believe they affect everyone playing the great game of golf and, as in anything, you can use them to make you better or use them to make you worse.

The first and certainly the shorter topic is age. At 59, there is no question I have a much tougher time competing from the championship tees against the fresh, limber backs of the younger players. I understand why this is. I haven’t done a great job of maintaining my flexibility and strength in the ageing process. I believe these two simple factors make a difference in playing the game to the best of your ability. Would the Speed Stick Class (and I don’t mean the deodorant) improve my ability? For Padraig Harrington and Matt Fitzgerald, they focused on increasing clubhead speed, and it has paid off. I also think about the fitness classes we offer and I’m certain they would increase my flexibility. If you want to improve, you have to take the steps to do so. I know these are ones I need to work on and I believe they apply to most of our membership.

The second and much longer topic is attitude, especially in competition. I think back to the two players I was paired with. One was a fellow professional I knew well, and one was a high-school senior who had committed to play for UNCW. During the round we all had our share of disappointing shots. But we all wanted to help each other shake it off and do better on the next swing, rooting for each other to play our best. Yes, I'm certain we all wanted to win. In this situation it would mean qualifying for the US Open Sectionals. But would we want to win and lose our attitude? Not me.

Attitude is way more important than winning. In competition, you basically are playing against yourself. How well can you play under the circumstances? Sure, there are other competitors or opponents. But when you understand the game, it comes down to how you perform under the competition. So here is the real reason for the title of my newsletter article. Why do people let their attitude get the best of them when they play in competition? It was apparent in the 2023 River Landing Member-Member. The same people who lend a helping hand in trying times (like Hurricane Florence) will bite your head off if you beat them, or if they even think you might beat them. (Insert "what the heck" emoji here). Members, friends playing a regular round of golf and getting upset, throwing clubs, cussing, yelling. Why?

I remember when I was 15 years old and had a poor attitude. I remember it well because it was one of the most embarrassing times in my life. I was the best catcher in the Babe Ruth league (at least I thought I was, man was I dumb) and the All-Star coaches took me for a ride to get an ice cream. Of course I was sure they took me alone because I was the best catcher in the league. While I ate my ice cream they confirmed what I already knew. But I soon learned the real reason they brought me alone. To let me know that I wouldn't be on the All-Star team because of one thing: poor attitude. My attitude didn't change immediately, it was a process. But 44 years and a 180-degree change in attitude later, I'm grateful my coaches didn't choose me for the '78 All Star Team.

So, I'm here as your coach and you need to ask yourself why. Why am I behaving this way? You can be like the young me and think you don't need your coaches or the All-Star Team. They are wrong and they don't know what they are talking about. They are going to be sorry they don't have the best catcher in the league. Or you can take a lesson from the grown up me and realize your attitude is worth much more than winning. Focusing more on protecting your attitude and making those around you better certainly brings greater satisfaction. So are you going to act like the 15-year-old or the 59-year-old? I know my answer, and I hope yours is the same.

PUTTING MAKES PERFECT

As we jump into spring, we now have the back driving range available for practicing. Our Golf Course Maintenance staff have done an outstanding job building a new tee box and practice green. With the enlarged practice green, everyone has an opportunity to work on their short game for the golf season!

Short game is very important to the game of golf and you can lower your score quickly by taking the time to practice different types of shots. There's a chance to work on both the chip and pitch shots because of the size and what's around the green.

With the mounds on one side of the green you can now work on the pitch shot. This is simply getting the ball up in the air and hitting the green softly in a way that it stops fairly quick. It's a great shot to have in the bag to help you out of those trouble areas around the green. The next shot you can work on is the chip shot, which is a shot that you hit lower causing the ball to tend to travel on the ground. The length of the new green allows you to work on the chip shot from several different angles and distances. You can try several different clubs for this shot which is great because it will give you comfort when you are on the course.

HOLES-IN-ONE

Keith Jay made his ACE on April 6th on the 10th hole of the River Course. Keith used a 7-iron from 100 yards for his awesome shot. Congratulations on this fantastic shot!!

Michael Phillips made a hole-in-one on April 9th on the Landing course. He watched his ACE on hole number 8 after hitting a 4-Hybrid from 176 yards. Congratulations Michael!

MEMBER-MEMBER

The Golf Staff would like to thank everyone who played in this year's Member-Member tournament. The weekend brought some tough weather the first day, but as the second day began, the skies were bright and beautiful! We had exciting finishes with flights, and the competition was tough. We incorporated a shootout amongst each of the net flight winners. This true alternate shot shootout started on #10 of the River Course, proceeded to #14, and then concluded on #18 green. We started with 8 teams, eliminated three on the first hole and three on the second hole. On the final hole, Tyler Sholar and Jared Tyndall made birdie to come out on top. Congratulations gentleman and well played!

Back Driving Range Now Open

We are excited to announce the opening of the back driving range! Please take note of some rules and expectations to ensure this newly re-designed area remains in great shape going forward.

The back range has 7 stands with balls outlined by rope. It is very important to hit from the designated space beside the golf bag racks and within the rope. This will enable a rotation of the range racks/balls so the same divot spot isn't hit for a minimum of three weeks allowing the turf to grow back. We are enforcing this rule on the front driving range as well.

RULES FOR THE BACK RANGE

- Please park in the designated parking area. Do not drive on the back tee box or across the range from #1 River. Please use the powerline path to access the back driving range.
- If you use the back range hitting tee, take time to fill your divots with the sand provided.
- When chipping on the back putting green, remove all balls with the range bag retrievers.
- When utilizing the practice bunker, remove all balls with the range bag retrievers.
- The putting green does not have holes so be sure to bring a tee or target to putt toward to avoid damaging the green.
- Parking on Cedar Point Drive is not allowed.
- Please use the same dress code for the golf course on both ends of the driving range.

Preparing Your Landscape Before Your Vacation

Everyone enjoys a great vacation. It's a time to relax, get away, and not have to think about all your responsibilities at home. Besides packing, finding a pet sitter, and all the other preparations for your trip, there are a few things you should do to your landscape before you go out of town for an extended period of time.

Before you leave, make sure your irrigation is set appropriately for the season. Wi-fi controllers are a great option. The newer controllers provide access while you are away with full operation. On most models, they can also help you save water and money by reacting to weather-related events. If the system detects rain or moisture your irrigation will not water needlessly. Imagine being able to just open up the phone app and control the system from wherever you are.

Another option when you are away is to have a neighbor check your irrigation and landscape for you. There is no need for them to check every day. Just a couple of days per week when you are gone is sufficient. An unforeseen leak can cause considerable damage, while bugs and disease can also take over in just a few days, potentially killing your turf or plants. That's why a good eye is needed every so often. If you have more questions or need help caring for your landscape, you can learn more at www.riverlanding.com/landscape.

WALLACE-ROSE HILL FRIENDS OF THE ARTS

Have you ever wondered if your charitable contributions were really helping people? Have you ever wondered if there was a way to get a bigger bang for your buck? Almost everyone shares that bit of anxiety, and most of us simply put our faith in the organizations we choose to support. Here is one that is a large part of the River Landing community and guarantees a big return on your hard-earned dollars.

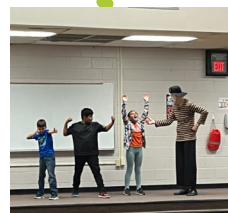

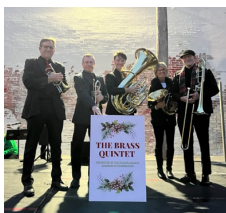

Friends of the Arts is a non-profit, philanthropic organization, founded in 2004 by local school administrators and River Landing residents. It provides students in the Wallace-Rose Hill school system the opportunity to partake of the arts in its various forms. Jazz, classical music, stage plays, drawing, painting, dance, science, and performance roles, the FOA brings in talent from across the nation. Students experience programs and professionals up close and personal. Children of all ages and sizes discover a world that otherwise might well bypass them. The budding musician meets a jazz performer. The neophyte actor chats with a traveling thespian. A doodler learns about perspective and shadow. The more students immerse themselves in the arts, the more the world opens for them. There are many benefits provided by FOA.

- Students involved in arts education programs are 4 times more likely to be recognized for academic achievement.
- Youth involved in the arts are more likely to spend leisure time in community services and youth programs.

• Students engaged in arts learning have higher GPAs, lower dropout rates, and high standardized test scores.

The school year is winding down and students will soon embrace summer and all that it promises. Some will remember their encounters with the arts and, perhaps, decide to pursue a deeper immersion in something they caught a glimpse of at an FOA sponsored event. If so, the FOA stands ready to help those wishing to continue their education in the arts. $8,000 in scholarships have been awarded to students showing a wish to excel in the arts.

Already, plans are being made for the coming school year. The dedicated volunteers of the FOA are lining up a wealth of talent that will entertain and inspire the youth of Wallace-Rose Hill. The rewards of the effort include the sparkling eyes of children who become acquainted with art in its wide variety of expression. To join or learn more about Friends of the Arts visit www.wrhfoa.com.
